CONGRESS BUSY CHANGING DUTIES.

GOSSIP OF THE SENATE COMMITTEE WORK.

Some of the Alterations That May Be Made in the Bill—Income Tax Will Surely Remain—Congressional Program for the Week An Important One.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The subcommittee having in charge the tariff bill will probably report it to the finance committee of the senate early this week. It is impossible to obtain a copy of their bill as it now stands amended to meet the demands of the dissatisfied senators as expressed in the recent caucuses, but it is reported that a small duty of 15 per cent has been placed on wool, that iron ore is to get 40 cents per ton, and that the duty on coal has been placed at the same figure. The retention of coal and iron on the dutiable list may involve a corresponding advance, by way of compensation, on manufactures of iron and steel.

Those who are opposed to the revival of the income tax continue to urge the elimination of that feature of the bill, but their appeals are not likely to meet affirmative response. A vote upon striking out that feature will undoubtedly be had in the senate, but as many republicans favor its retention success will not attend the effort to strike out. If eliminated provision would have to be made to meet the deficiency thus created in the aggregate of the revenue to be raised by the bill. This could be readily accomplished by increasing the tax on whisky, beer and tobacco and making a slight increase in the annual license charged manufacturers and dealers in those articles. Indeed, the restoration of the duty on sugar, the retention of the duty on coal and iron and the increases reported to have been made in the rates of the house bill, together with an advance of 20 cents per gallon on distilled spirits, are in themselves sufficient to meet the deficiency that would be created by the elimination of the income tax. There is not, however, the slightest prospect that the income tax will be stricken from the bill.

COMING WEEK IN CONGRESS.

The Tariff Occupying Most of the Time of Senators.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The senate has made so little progress toward legislation during the last two or three weeks that the calendar has been changed only in a very slight degree, and the special orders made sometime since, except in the case of a few speeches, are still undisposed of. The printing bill, the Russian thistle bill and the McGarrahan bill all hold their places where they can be called up in order, but they are subject to displacement if any question of more general importance should be presented, even though informally.

If the tariff bill should not be reported during the week, it is still likely to be referred to and speeches made upon it. It is the subject which is uppermost in the minds of all senators and is liable to appear unexpectedly in some shape. There probably will also be a few more speeches on the Hawaiian question. Senator Caffery has not yet made his speech on the subject, of which he gave notice some time since, and there are also other senators who probably will wish to be heard if opportunity offers. For the rest, and if no other general subject should present itself, the senate may be expected to take up the calendar and dispose of as many of the minor bills as possible.

There will be a lull in the house for several weeks after the excitement that has existed there since the holidays. It is the intention of the house managers to push the consideration of the appropriation bills to the exclusion of everything else during the coming week. Two days, probably three, will be taken to complete the consideration of the pension appropriation bill, which has been under discusion for the past two days. After it is diposed of, the District of Columbia and consular and diplomatic bills will consume the balance of the week. When these are completed the election cases will be taken up, and then the house will return to the other appropriation bills.

Spring Term of the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Although the spring term of the Supreme court begins to-day none of the cases which have been awaiting a hearing by a full bench can be taken up at once. There are twenty-five of those cases on the waiting list, among the most important being those involving the title to mineral lands in the grants to the Northern Pacific railroad, the finances of the defunct Mormon church, and the interpretation of clauses of the McKinley tariff act. The delay is necessitated by the absence of Justice Jackson, who is in Florida, where he will remain until April for the benefit of his health. A large number of important cases will be decided by the court to-day which have been under consideration during the recess.

Makes a Monopoly of Silver.

TEHERAN, March 5.—The government has officially announced that the mint will no longer coin silver for the public. It also declares that the importation of silver is prohibited for the future.

ROSEBERY IN CONTROL.

He is Now Premier of England—Already at Work.

LONDON, March 5.—Mr. Gladstone has written a letter to Earl Rosebery, congratulating him upon his accession to the premiership. In his letter Mr. Gladstone promised to aid the new prime minister whenever his assistance was asked. It is understood that Earl Roseberv's communication to Sir William Vernon Harcourt has resulted in the latter consenting to retain his position as chancellor of the exchequer and in his accepting the government leadership of the house of commons.

Notwithstanding the fact that yesterday was nominally a day of rest, Lord Rosebery was busily engaged all day. Mr. Herbert Asquith, the home secretary, and Earl Spencer, first lord of the admiralty, visited him and remained some time. Afterward Lord Rosebery called upon the earl of Kimberley and offered to him the post of foreign secretary, made vacant by his promotion to the position of prime minister.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt had a long interview with Lord Rosebery in the afternoon. The new prime minister has appointed Mr. Munroe Ferguson his political private secretary. Lord Rosebery has been the recipient of many congratulatory letters and dispatches. Among those who telegraphed to him were the prince and princess of Wales. A large number of persons left their cards at Lord Rosebery's city residence, 38 Berkley square.

WILL JOIN COXEY'S ARMY.

Preparing to Move on Massillon, Ohio, Thence to Washington.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 5.—There will be a big delegation from Kansas to join Gen. Coxey, when he starts on his grand march to Washington. Already the movement is taking root in several of the towns and cities of the states where there are many men out of employment. At Nickerson, Newton, Hutchinson, Emporia, Arkansas City, Goodland, Horton, Bellaville, Argentine and Topeka, there are several hundred men who have formerly been employed by the various railroads, but who have been discharged on account of hard times.

Meat Is Thoroughly Inspected.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The attention of the agricultural department officials has been called to the Berlin dispatch, in which Prof. Muller and Herr Werner, the directors of the agricultural high school denounced the manner in which American meats were inspected. The department officials, however, are now giving themselves any concern regarding the statements made, and as they say there can be no grounds for such complaints, if the experience of the past two years since the meat inspection law went into operation, is taken into consideration. There has not been a single case of trichina proved during that time in meats inspected and shipped abroad. There was one instance where it was alleged trichina existed in exported meat, but this was a case in which the meat had not undergone the proper inspection by an official of the United States, and the consul who had certified to its inspection was imposed upon.

Sleepy Engineer Causes a Wreck.

WINAMAC, Ind., March 5.—A fast freight train crashed into the rear of another freight at the Panhandle crossing here yesterday. Bruce Ide, the engineer, had fallen asleep. The engine left the track after crashing through the caboose and ran 300 feet, turning a complete somerset. The engineer will die. Fireman Merrill was thrown fifty feet, but was not seriously injured. Fifty freight cars were wrecked and their contents ruined.

Sioux Falls Brewery to Stand.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., March 5.—A private telegram from Pierre says the Supreme court has reversed the decision of the lower court ordering the destruction of the Sioux Falls brewery as a nuisance. The decision practically declares the prohibition law invalid so far as the manufacture of liquor is concerned. The proprietors of the brewery will this spring double their plant.

Plot of Dynamiters Discovered.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 5.—Six dynamite cartridges were found in the new Kent & Stonley building yesterday with fuses attached in such a manner that when the engines started they would have exploded and wrecked the structure. The police can find no clew to the authors of the attempted outrage.

Ed Williamson Dead.

CHICAGO, March 5.—Ed Williamson, the most popular ball player that ever stepped on a diamond, died at Mountain Valley Springs, Ark., Saturday night. He had been there since Jan. 20 under treatment for liver complaint and dropsy. He grew better under the treatment until Feb. 27, when he had a relapse. A new treatment was then tried unavailingly.

Welcome Snow in Arizona.

PRESCOTT, A. T., March 5.—The severest storm of the season occurred during the last twenty-four hours, from a foot to a foot and a half of snow falling, insuring an abundance of water for mining and agricultural purposes for the year.

Towsley Block at Waterloo Burned.

WATERLOO, N. Y., March 5.—Fire in the cellar of the Towsley House block did about $25,000 damages.

MISSOURI BOATS SUNK BY THE ICE.

TWO STEAMERS WRECKED AT SIOUX CITY.

The Ice Gorge Broken nnd Serious Loss Results—Six Men Have a Narrow Escape From Drowning—Rains in Cedar Rapids Cause a Breakup Which Injures a Dam.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, March 5.—An ice gorge in the Missouri gave way here unexpectedly yesterday and two steamboats were caught in it and sunk. The Mary Bennett, owned by R. A. Talbot, had a hole broken in the hold, turned over on its side, and sank in twenty feet of water in less than five minutes. All the machinery and upper works and all except about four feet of the lower deck are under water and directly in the course of drifting ice. The boat will be a total loss. It is valued at $5,000. The Vint Stillings, owned by Selzer Bros., was carried up against the bank by the ice and one side is down in twelve feet of water while the other is high and dry. Much of the machinery is under water. It is valued at $8,000, and is in danger of tipping over and being destroyed by floating ice. The crew of the Bennett, six in number, escaped to the shore by jumping from one ice cake to another.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, March 5.—Heavy rains caused the Cedar river to rise between three and four feet in a few hours, carrying the ice out into the river. About fifty feet of the dam was carried out with the ice. When the water goes down it will lower the water above the dam about four feet, exposing the inlet pipe from which the city gets its supply of water, thus making a water famine imminent unless the repairs are made immediately.

EMPORIA, Kan., March 5.—Rain fell here all day yesterday and toward evening a downpour occurred accompanied by heavy thunder. The wheat and grass already show signs of great benefit.

OMAHA, Neb., March 5.—From all over Nebraska come reports of heavy showers, in some cases accompanied by high winds. No serious damage is reported from any place, though heavy minor losses are mentioned. The worst fear is for winter wheat, which may be sprouted by the warm rain, the frost being nearly all out of the ground.

LOST AT SEA.

Reported Sinking of the Rebel Transport Venus Is Confirmed.

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 26, via Montevideo, March 5.—Friday morning the armed rebel transports Jupiter, Marte and Venus opened a bombardment against the government batteries. The guns in the batteries responded quickly and a lively fire was exchanged. Suddenly there was a terrific roar above the booming of the guns. An explosion had occurred on the Venus. The vessel had been torn in half, and almost immediately afterward the stern half of the wreck went to the bottom. The bow half was on fire. This portion of the Venus floated for a half hour and then went down. Every soul on board of it was lost. Some of the crew could be seen for a time on the forward part of the vessel as it drifted helplessly burning, and efforts were made to rescue them, but the boats that were dispatched on this work were slow in reaching the scene of the disaster, and by the time they arrived the men on the wreck were forced by the fire into the water. Apparently they could not swim, and before the boats could reach them they sank. Thirty-three men were drowned.

Salt Takes a Jump 10 Cents a Barrel.

SAGINAW, Mich., March 5.—The Michigan salt trust has grown tired of selling salt at cost and has declared an advance of 10 cents a barrel to take effect at once. The old stock has been gradually diminished, leaving the market practically clear at present and the advance of 10 cents a barrel on all grades, except solar and dairy salt, will be gratifying to the manufacturers of the state.

Talmage Decides to Remain.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage will continue to be pastor of the Brooklyn tabernacle. He withdrew yesterday the resignation of a few weeks ago, and general rejoicing followed the announcement, which was made from the platform. Handkerchiefs were waved and the congregation applauded. The finances of the tabernacle have been placed on a satisfactory basis.

Dunphy Tires of Tammany.

NEW YORK, March 5.—A special from Washington announces the fact that Congressman Dunphy of New York has resigned from the general committee of Tammany. In a letter to Chairman Brown, he expresses his disapproval of Tammany election methods and Richard Croker's tariff policy.

Standard Oil Loses a Shop.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 5.—The machine shop of the Standard Oil works, corner Babcock and Elk streets, burned Saturday. Loss, $25,000 insured. The report that the entire plant of the Standard Oil company would be destroyed was incorrect.

Steinitz and Lasker to Play.

NEW YORK, March 5.—William Steinitz and Emanuel Lasker have signed articles for a match, ten games up, for $2,000 a side and the chess championship of the world.

WYANT IS ARRESTED AND IN DANGER

OWNER OF THE EAGLE MINES JAILED.

Some Apprehension Felt That the Mob May Lynch Him—Indiana Miners in a Destitute Condition—Want a National Strike—Criticisms of Operators' Figures.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 5.—Capt. Wyant, the proprietor of the Eagle mines, was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued by 'Squire Adkins of Montgomery. This information was telegraphed the governor late in the afternoon. The dispatch did not give the offense charged, the parties by whom the writ was obtained, or whether served by the sheriff. It is feared by state officials that an attempt will be made by the strikers to take Wyant from the authorities and lynch him, as the feeling against him is very intense.

SUFFERING OF INDIANA MINERS.

Unable to Earn a Bare Living—Criticism of Operators' Figures.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 5.—There is a gloomy feeling as to the outlook in the Indiana coal field. In the block coal field, which is confined to Clay county, the miners are not earning money enough to pay living expenses. The men do not average one day a week. One thousand miners have left the field in the last three months, and many of those who remain have been forced to call upon the poor authorities for food for their families. The men in the bituminous fields have had more work, but yet not enough to enable them to make a fair living. In some localities they, too, have had to ask aid of the authorities. President Dunkerly of the miners' state organization says the public does not know all the facts about the scale question. When the operators make a statement to show that they can not mine coal at 70 cents a ton at a profit they do not give the figures showing the portion of this 70 cents they get back from the miners through the sale of powder and oil and the blacksmithing. He estimates that the operators make a profit of 75 cents a keg on powder, which is sold to the men at $1.85, and hundreds of kegs are used at some mines. The profit on oil is 20 and 30 cents a gallon, and at some mines the company nets $40 or $50 profit on the blacksmith, who also does all of their own work.

Propose a National Strike.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 5.—A joint convention of the railroad and river coal miners of this district will be held here to-day, when the officers of the United Mine-Workers of America will probably again be urged to declare a national strike. This would affect between 80,000 and 100,000 miners. The reduction in this district during the last year has unsettled the wages of the men in Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, and Illinois, and the miners here believe a general strike is the only way a better mining rate can be obtained.

Railroad Men Get a Day's Rest.

NEW YORK, March 5.—The New York, Lake Erie and Western railroad has issued an order to hold all common freight trains in the yard from 12 o'clock Sunday night every week in the year. Only the necessary crews to handle fast and perishable freight will be kept at work. The order affects nearly 8,000 men, half of whom will get a day's rest, the other half being compelled to work two or three hours Sunday.

Charges Against Labor Leaders.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 5.—Hugh Cavanagh yesterday stated that when Master Workman Sovereign and Secretary Hayes reached Memphis they would be confronted with charges preferred by the Cincinnati Knights of Labor. Those against Sovereign charge him with going beyond his office in the negro colonization scheme. There are several charges against Hayes.

DENVER, Colo., March 5.—In the United States court an order has been issued by Judge Riner that the motion of the receivers of the Union Pacific to dissolve the order of the court of Feb. 27 on the employes' wage question be heard before Judges Caldwell and Sanborn at Omaha March 27.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 5.—The strike of millers and packers at the flour mills is at an end through the efforts of Mayor Eustis. The differences were compromised.

Three Men Are Murdered.

WICHITA, Kan., March 5.—Three mysterious disappearances within a week are exciting the officers and people. James Dow was found murdered in "Hell's half-acre" neighborhood on Tuesday. Last Saturday an Italian merchant named Franks visited that vicinity and has not been heard of. On Thursday night James Wingent, a prominent and popular clerk, was seen in the locality and now his whereabouts are clothed in mystery. Detectives are at work on all the cases, but with little success.

Amick Tests His Cure.

ST. LOUIS, March 5.—Judgment was rendered Saturday in favor of Dr. Amick, of Cincinnati, against the St Louis Clinique. This medical journal questioned the merits of his treatment for consumption, which many physicians here say is the only cure for the disease. Amick keeps his formula all to himself, and sends, free, medicines proving to the consumptive that he can be cured. All this is against the medical code; hence the attack and vindication.

TO CONSTRUE THE LAW.

Mr. Bryan Wants Obligations Redeemed in Gold or Silver.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Mr. Bryan of Nebraska has introduced in the house a bill to construe the law which gives the secretary of the treasury the right to redeem coin obligations in gold or silver at his discretion. It provides that all obligations incurred by the government which, according to their terms, call for payment in coin, shall be payable in gold or silver coin at the discretion of the secretary of the treasury and the right of the holder to demand payment in any particular kind of coin is expressly denied. The secretary of the treasury is directed to maintain gold and silver coin on a parity with each other upon the present legal ratio or such ratio as may be provided by law by receiving the same without discrimination against either metal in payment of all public dues, customs and taxes.

BURIED THREE WEEKS.

Bodies of the Men Killed in the Gaylord Mine Not Yet Recoverd.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 5.—It is three weeks to-day since the thirteen men entered the Gaylord mine at Plymouth. The search for their bodies was commenced a few hours after the big cave-in took place. It was then predicted by the best judges that it would take at least three weeks before the rescuing party could reach the place where the men were at work and where they in all probability met their death. The three weeks have expired and still there is no trace of the missing ones. It is now generally believed that it will take at least eight days more before any of the bodies will be recovered, although the foreman in charge of the rescue work said last evening that thirty-five feet had been cleared away and that he expected to come upon the bodies at any time.

CALLS FOR THE MILITIA.

Trial at Baton Rouge Makes the Presence of Soldiery Advisable.

BATON ROUGE, La., March 5.—Tom Kinder is now on trial at Minden for participating in the Ramsey-Tuggles feud. Gov. Foster received last evening messages from Sheriff Mims asking: "Can I call on you for the militia? Large crowds and excitement running high." The governor telegraphed the militia companies at Shreveport and Ruston to get in readiness and hold themselves subject to orders.

Disastrous for Fishermen.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., March 5.—The last three months form one of the most disastrous periods in the history of the Gloucester fisheries. The number of vessels reported lost is eighteen, with a total tonnage of 1,419, valued at more than $100,000, and on which there was insurance of $95,134.

Montana Mines Go for a Million.

NEWTON, Kan., March 5.—The entire family of E. L. Snyder, a merchant of Sedgwick, a few miles from here, was accidentally poisoned by some unknown substance in the coffee yesterday. Zimmermans's Reply to Johnson.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Zimmerman says in reply to the challenge issued by John S. Johnson to race any man from a quarter of a mile to five miles that he would meet Johnson at any distance provided a large stake was put up, the stake to be not less than $5,000 and from that up.

A Joke for St. Louis.

St. Peter—Whence do you come? Chicago Man—I must decline to answer that. "On what grounds?" "That the answer would tend to criminate myself."—Brooklyn Life.

NEW ROSTER TRIAL WAS BEGUN TO-DAY.

SECURING OF A NEW JURY PROVES DIFFICULT.

All the Eloquence That Was Spilled on the Floor During the Last Seven Days Must Be Used a Second Time—Bill of $2,000 Against Juror Reible.

MADISON, Mch., 5.—The trial of the roster contract case which was supposed to have commenced last Monday began again in the Dane county circuit court this morning. Today was spent in picking jurors, which proves slow work. All of last weeks work must be gone over. Fine progress was being made and a batch of oratory such as is seldom heard in a court room was emitted, but it was all wasted. The action of Juror Rinehard Reible in expressing a decided opinion on the case stopped the trial short. Judge Siebecker intimated that he will be tried by a jury for contempt of court. He is liable for the cost of the trial while he was a juror, which, it is said, amounts to over $2,000. It is feared there will be much trouble in securing a new jury.

IRON HALL FUNDS.

Massachusetts Judge Declares an Important Finding.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., March 5.—Robert A. Knight, receiver of the Iron Hall for Massachusetts, has received a copy of an important report by Judge Hammond of the Massachusetts Supreme court. The report disposes of the petition of Joshua B. Stearns of Lynn, who filed a petitition asking that Receiver Knight be made to turn over the $280,000 of the funds of the order now held by him to James F. Failey, the Indianapolis receiver. The judge dismissed the petition, but finds that the case is one which should be heard before the full bench of the Supreme court, and so reports. The case will be heard this month at Boston.

In the Interest of Railway Mail Clerks.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Representative Wheeler of Illinois has introduced a bill to create a relief fund for railway mail clerks by taxing the salaries of the clerks 1 per cent, the sum to be retained in the treasury and placed in some depository of public money. Pensions from the fund are to be granted disabled clerks at these rates: For the first class, $360; second class, $410; third, $460; fourth, $500; fifth, $610. Widows or minor children of clerks who have been killed in the service are to receive a sum equal to one year's pay and clerks retired after twenty years' service because of age or infirmities are to be eligible for pensions.

Illinois Democratic Convention.

CHICAGO, March 5.—The democrats will hold their state convention during the latter part of June. This appears to be the opinion of a number of the committeemen who are here in anticipation of the meeting of the State Central organization to-day. The country members in the main favor a convention in the fall. Some think July is early enough. The sentiment of a majority indicates the holding of the convention late in June, and little doubt is expressed on that point.

Chairman Wilson Is Slightly Better.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 5.—William G. Wilson, son of Congressman Wilson, passed through here yesterday on his way to Guadalajara, Mexico, to the bedside of his father. While here Mr. Wilson received a telegram informing him that his father's condition is slightly improved. He will be removed to the United States as soon as he is able to stand the journey.

Night Operator Still Murdered.

CHADRON, Neb., March 5.—Night Operator Still was murdered at his desk this morning at 3 o'clock by an unknown assassin. It is thought by the railroad authorities here that robbery was the motive. The sheriffs of Dawes and Sheridan counties are out with search parties, but if caught in either county the sheriffs can hardly protect the murderer from lynching.

Plenty of Fish for Striking Potters.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, March 5.—A large amount of fish is being caught upon the surface of the Ohio river at Smith's Ferry, four miles above here. Some say it is a godsend to the 5,000 pottery strikers here, who have been out the last six weeks. Tee fish are found in the morning upon the surface of the water in apparent stupor. The strikers bring home the fish by the boatload. A thousand pounds was secured this morning inside of an hour.

Advocate State Socialism.

BOSTON, Mass., March 5.—Several thousand people assembled on Boston common yesterday afternoon in response to an appeal from the leaders of the unemployed. DOES THE CITY NEED A $55,000 SCHOOL?

BUSINESS MEN TO DISCUSS THE MATTER.

President Vankirk Urges a Full Attendance This Evening as Several Important Matters are to be Brought Up For Debate.—The Association is In a Flourishing Condition.

An important meeting of the Janesville Business Men's Association will be held this evening at the association rooms. Besides the business of the regular monthly meeting to be disposed of, other important matters will be brought up.

"The question of voting $55,000 for a high school building is an important matter, and I believe it is a question demanding some public consideration," said President Vankirk. "Then the matter of fire insurance rates ought to be discussed and facts gathered. These questions, besides some others, should in my opinion be discussed by the association. The Business Men's association is now in good condition. The income is more than sufficient to meet expenses and we are receiving a number of new members. I believe the discussion of important public questions is one of the main objects of this association and now is the time to consider the questions I have named. I wish the papers would urge that the clergy attend the meetings of the association. All the clergy are made members of the association, that is the rules give them the privileges of the members in the association rooms, and they are always welcome to come in. If each member would make a point to influence others to attend I believe we would have full meetings, and thus the gatherings would be of much more interest and the influence more telling."

CAPELLE SQUELCHED AN ALARM.

Another Unsophisticated Woman Anxious to Mail Her Letters With a Key.

"You owe me a stick of chewing gum," said Mail Carrier Clare Capelle to one of the west side firemen. "I prevented a woman from sending in an alarm on my way round gathering up mail when I noticed her working at the box very earnestly, and called to her asking what she wanted.

"I want to put this letter in the box, and I see I have got to break this little glass to get the key to open it," she said.

"I told her I would take her letter and then I told her the difference between a mail and a fire alarm box, and what the result would have been had she succeeded in opening the door. She begged pardon, handed me her letter, and said she would remember the next time."

NEW SLOT MACHINES EACH DAY.

Drawers Catch the Nickles and Keep Them in View.

Janesville has had several patterns of the nickel-in-the-slot machine but the more recent model, and by far the most popular, is one where a nickel is dropped in the slot and falls into the several chutes in the machine. If the coin falls into the right chute, a door in the machine opens and a drawer containing anywhere from five cents to several dollars, according to how often the machine has been unsuccessfully played, is awarded to the winner. If, however, the coin falls into the middle drawer it goes to the house. Just What the per centage is in favor of the house has never been determined.

There are three companies supplying Wisconstn with these machines The companies sell the machine outright for $50. or else put it in a saloon, and divide the winnings equally with the proprietor of the place.

WATER COMPANY STRIKE FROST.

Two Services Put In This Spring and Many More Ordered.

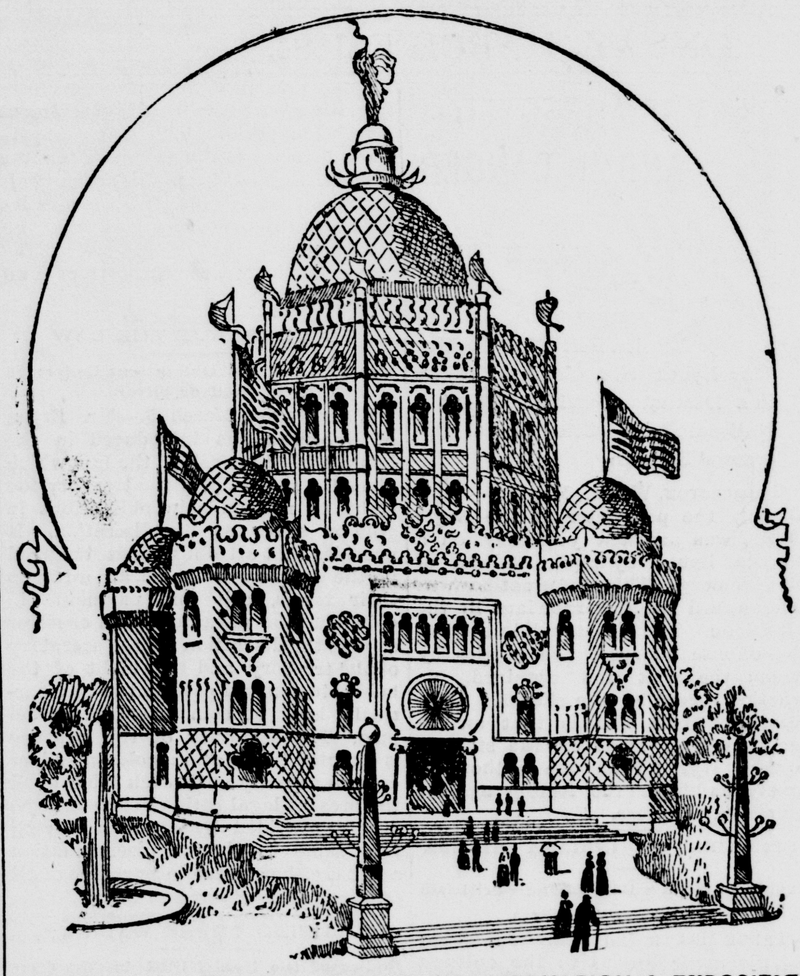

The Janesville Water Company has already put in two water services this spring, and a number of orders are on hand to be put in as soon as the frost is out of the ground. Superintendent Mitchell is down about five feet in some places, which makes it difficult and expensive digging. The company anticipate considerable work this season in placing new services and extension of mains.

Woman Suffrage in England.

Woman suffrage in England is slowly—slowly, but with wonderful success—on the forward move. Archdeacon Wilson has pronounced in favor of one woman vote for single and married women; and among the chronicles of unpleasant social happenings, too common now in Brighton, London or Manchester to excite comment, are casual announcements of Mrs. Martindale's at home entertaining her guests agreeably with arguments in support of the woman's suffrage special appeal committee. Addresses were delivered and interesting arguments in favor of the femenine movement. These seem but little drops of water and most unimportant grains of sand, but Lord Rosebery, if ever he is called upon to answer to the United British Women, will find that something more than a good dinner and pleasant talk will be needed to satisfy their demands.—English Ex.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING—MIDWINTER INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION AT SAN FRANCISCO.

CITY CONVENTION COMES SOON.

Republican Committee Will Meet This Week to Decide on a Date.

From now on until after the municipal election politics will be at fever heat. Already a number of candidates are out working for places. Both parties are now showing their hand, and it is more than probable that there will be a large number who will be disappointed. Last year the city republican convention was held on the afternoon of March 18, and the city caucuses on the evening of March 16 It is therefore apparent that the city committee will decide sometime this week at what time the convention is to be held. The committee is made up as follows:

First ward—J. H. Watson.
Second ward—P. S. Peterson.
Third ward—E. P. Doty.
Fourth ward—A. G. Anderson.
Fifth ward—William Tuckwood.

AS USUAL.

He Had Forgotten All About What His Wife Wanted.

A few weeks ago a prominent Washington lawyer left home to go to his office. His wife asked him for the fourth consecutive day to do a certain errand for her at one of the down-town stores. Her husband said he would attend to the matter, provided he did not forget all about it before he got two squares from home.

"Let me fix it so you will not forget it, my dear," said his wife, as she resorted to the old scheme of tying a string around his finger.

About 2 o'clock in the afternoon the lawyer met a gentleman friend on the street, and in shaking hands the friend noticed a roll of dirty string on the lawyer's finger.

"What are you wearing that string for?" inquired the friend.

"By George!" exclaimed the lawyer, "that's to remind me to do an errand for my wife. I must go do it right away, too, and keep peace in the family," and he started off for one of the dry goods stores.

All the way to the store door the lawyer tried in vain to think what it was his wife had asked him to buy. He walked four blocks out of his way, thinking of every article he had ever known her to use; still he could not think what it was that she wanted on this particular occasion. Finally, thoroughly disgusted with himself, he returned to his office, called a messenger and wrote a note to his wife, asking her what she had put the string on his finger for. He waited nearly an hour for the return of the messenger, paid the boy sixty cents, and then had the extreme pleasure of reading this from his lovely little wife:

"Dearest: I did want you to get me some chineal, but I knew you would never think of it, so I sent Mary down this afternoon and she got it for me."

CITY REPUBLICANS FULL OF SPIRIT.

VERY GOOD NAMES MENTIONED AS POSSIBILITIES.

Plenty of Good Aldermanic Timber in Every Ward Except the Fifth, Where Democrats Will Probably Be Allowed to Have Their Own Way. City Convention.

There is a red hot canvass now going on up in the Fifth ward among the democrats for alderman. As that ward is hopelessly democratic, republicans look on with more or less interest. Alderman Ed. Smith's term expires, and he would not object to continuing in official position another two years. At the same time Michael Dougherty has both eyes on Alderman Smith's chair at the council table, and his friends say that he has been reaching for it these several days and has it almost in his grasp. Ex-Alderman James Sennett is not without a large support who are urging his name to be placed on the city ticket for alderman.

William Cunningham, it is said, has a cinch on the nomination for alderman in the Fourth ward, and it is whispered that R. J. Whitton is to again try for the same position in the Second ward.

Republicans have not concentrated in any of the wards on aldermen although a number of good names are mentioned. In the First ward H. G. Arnold, S. B. Heddles, D. P. Smith and H. S. Woodruff. C. H. Kueck, O. Sutherland, F. L. Clemons, W. T. Vankirk, William Winkley and S. C. Burnham are mentioned in the Second ward. George L. Carrington, Alex. Graham, W. H Greenman, A. C. Munger, J. A. Hoskins, I. C. Brownell and F. F. Stevens are mentioned in the Third ward. Everybody says F. A. Vankirk can distance the field for alderman in the Fourth ward and that his chances for election this year would be good The Fifth ward is conceded to the democrats, and the republicans will probably make no attempt against such odds.

The Confederate Cent.

There was only one complete die made for the purpose of coining money by the "Confederate States of America," that for a one-cent piece, which was made by Lovett, the Philadelphia engraver, in 1861. After he had finished the dies Mr. Lovett found that he was unable to send them to the persons that had ordered the work done, and becoming alarmed, he "struck off" twelve nickel cents and then carefully secreted both coins and dies. For twelve long years the engraver kept his secret, which was finally revealed through an accident. One day, in 1873, he went to the hiding place of his rare coins and selected one for a pocket-piece, and within the month passed it out unknowingly to Hazeltine, the Philadelphia restaurant keeper. This man knowing the piece to be Lovett's work, sent it to J. C. Randall, the coin collector. After some little difficulty Hazeltine and Randall succeeded in buying the die, and from it they struck fifty-five copper pieces, twelve in silver and seven in gold. This accomplished, they mutilated the dies, and coin dealers now hold Confederate cents at a very high figure.

Discouraging a Sneak Thief.

A sneak thief was recently caught in a lumber camp near Basswood and the choppers decided to scare the life out of him. They convened a sort of court-martial, warned the crook that conviction meant death, and then proceeded to convict him. The "judge" donned a black knit worsted nightcap belonging to a German but recently over, and sentenced the culprit to death by hanging. A rope was produced, a noose placed around the convict's neck, the other end thrown over a limb, and after the fellow had been given an opportunity to pray he was hauled up until his neck cracked and his toes barely touched the ground. Then they let him down and the biggest man in camp kicked him out of the woods.—Detroit Free Press.

BUSINESS MAN AS A FIRE BUG.

Says He Kindled a Blaze Just to See the Department Make a Run.

A prominent Janesville man was talking this morning about incendiary fires, when he admitted that he had been implicated in three attempts to burn buildings, one in New Jersey, one in Monroe and one in Janesville.

"We were quite young," said he, but the young fellow and myself wanted to see the fire department get out. We went down to an old rookery in the Fourth ward, got some dry pine and some dry grass; this we piled up against the building and then struck a match. Then we ran away some distance and waited for the fire department, but was disappointed that they did not turn out. We then leisurely walked back and discovered that our plan had failed; that the grass and pine did not burn, and we did not repeat the attempt."

This story was told to a number of tombstone members who took it as a fresh proof os original sin.

A profitable inducement to you.

Would you invest one dollar if you were certain to receive two dollars in return? Will not mix words about our offers, we need room for our spring stock, which is now arriving, several cases are here now. We're unable to make room unless we dispose of the bulk of our heavy weight stock. There's only one way to do this quickly and that is we've to give our stock of winter woolens away, without profit; we'll make them up with our usual good care at the actual cost of materials and workmanship. If you do not want any winter woolens, inspect our new stock of spring goods, equally as cheap. We'll keep our tailors busy at any cost. Hardly any need quoting prices, you must see the goods to appreciate them.

MAXTM INVENTS THE LATEST AIR SHIP.

IS AT LEAST ANOTHER STEP FORWARD.

Maxim, the Great American Inventor, Thinks He Has Solved the Problem Completely—It Lacks Some Perfections, However.

(London Correspondence.)

AMONG ALL THE scientific men whose researches have contributed to aerial navigation, Hiram S. Maxim, the inventor of the airship in question, stands foremost.

As the inventor of the Maxim gun, and many other ingenious machines of less importance, he had won a world-wide fame before the navigation of the air became the chief object of his study and investigation.

Beginning life fifty-three years ago, with a common school education and a jack-knife, in Sangerville, Maine, he is now the proud possessor of a town house in London, and is lord of the manor at Baldwyn's Park, a stretching domain of hundreds of acres, which he leased five years ago as well adapted to his preliminary experiments.

Mr. Maxim is a man of medium height and solid build, his weight being 210 pounds. His hair, mustache and beard are white, but his mental and physical energy are astonishing, and go far to explain the variety and extent of the results he has achieved.

The work of inventing and constructing a flying machine, nearly every part of which, from boiler to connecting rods, is a variation from existing appliances, enforced by the necessities of the occasion, is one which could only be undertaken by a man of much ingenuity, equipped with an extraordinary practical knowledge of mechanics.

While he has a sturdy Americanism which personal interviews with half the reigning monarchs of Europe have not in the least affected, he retains a pleasant conviction that of all the spots on the map of the world, not one is so important or agreeable to contemplate as the good old state of Maine.

Upon arrival at Baldwyn's park, the proceedings began with an appetizing luncheon in a handsome dining-room, though above the table hung an ornament which was perfectly calculated to entirely take away a visitor's appetite.

This was a model of the air-ship on the scale of an inch to the foot.

It was so strange an object that it made one oblivious of the fruit and indifferent to the coffee. By way of introduction and explanation, the inventor said:

"The principle I have worked on, generally speaking, is that of the kite. That large cloth frame at the top of the model is the aeroplane, or main kite surface.

"The lesser aeroplane above the platform, or car; the side aeroplanes, or wings; and the flat-pointed rudders, fore and aft, are designed to furnish additional kite surface.

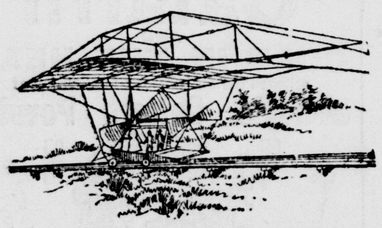

"It is necessary to make it, however, so that we can run it in a calm, against the air, thus making our own wind, as it were; and for this purpose I have a railway track, and instead of cords to hold the kite against the wind, I employ a pair of powerful screw propellers driven by a steam engine

"In this manner I can drive the machine exactly as I please, can ascertain exactly how much the push of the screw is, and at the same time find out exactly how much the machine lifts at different speeds.

"The machine is, in fact, a big kite.

"Should I fly it in the air with a cord during a strong gale and then run my engines, I should be able to find out how fast they would have to run in order to take all the pull off the cord. As soon as the cord became slack, the machine would be flying with its own engine power."

To more clearly illustrate his meaning, Mr. Maxim led the way to the workshop in the grounds—a large and substantial bird cage, sixty feet wide and fifty high, in which the mechanical bird had been constructed, and stood perched for one of its daily flights.

A railway track nine feet wide ran outward from the closed doors, and stretched indefinitely, in a straight line, across the green level of the park to the line of a belt of woods 2,000 feet distant.

On the platform, near the front end, was a small boiler house in the shape, roughly speaking, of a truncated pyramid, and ten feet behind it was a frame eleven feet high, on which were two sets of compound cylinders, and two big wooden screws above the two sides of the platform, and eighteen feet apart.

Outside of these fundamental accessories were a water tank, a naphtha tank and an indefinite number of rods and very small wire ropes, to give strength and compactness to the whole.

The many minor elements of the machinery did not at first catch the eye, but all appeared in interesting action when details were entered upon later on.

It should be noted that the machine, as it stood and as it appears in the accompanying pictures, was without the side planes, and the big rudders of cloth on steel frames, which are mounted, fore and aft, on the main aeroplane.

These are not used in the experimental trials, their utility having been established, as far as is possible, without a practical test in the air.

Pushed by the workmen, the machine rolled slowly out of the house, and shortly stood upon the track in the park. It had completely filled the workshop from roof to floor; but here, with only the sky above it, seemed smaller and lighter.

The steam was hissing in the boiler; the big screws had made one or two preliminary revolutions, and a flight along the track was imminent. "Jump on board," shouted its owner, who stood at the boiler, conning half a dozen different gauges; and, climbing over an outlying rod like the outrigger of a canoe, I mounted the platform, which was of the lightest matched boards, so thin that they seemed insufficient to bear a man's weight.

Prior to the start, a rope running to a dynamometer and post was attached behind to measure the forward impulse, or "push," of the screw.

Mr. Maxim turned on the steam, and the screw on the port side began to revolve. It is 17 feet 11 inches in length-5 feet wide at the ends, and 22 inches at the waist.

It s made of the lightest American yellow pine, and painted a pale blue, the paint having been sandpapered to perfect smoothness, reducing the skin friction to a point at which it became negligible.

It revolved faster and faster as the steam power was increased until it was whirling on its seemingly frail framework at a dizzying speed. Then steam was shut off; it came quickly to a standstill and its fellow on the other side was tried.

All working smoothly, both screws began to turn faster and faster and faster, until the eye began to lose the blades and retain only the sense of two whirling discs.

The action of the screws at high speed caused remarkably little shaking of the whole machine.

This is one of the surprises of the invention, the tremendous force exerted as compared with the lightness, steadiness and compactness of the whole.

Behind the screws, forty feet away two men were squatting over the dynamometer, and indicating the degree of "push" on a large index board for the engineer to read.

The index marked 400, 500, 600, 700, and, finally, 1,200 pounds of "push."

The pressure was then diminished below five hundred, and the commander yelled: "Let go!" A rope was pulled, the machine shot forward like a railway train, and, with the big wheels whirling, the steam hissing, and the waste pipes puffing and gurgling, flew over the 1,800 feet of track in much less time than it takes to tell it.

It was stopped by a couple of ropes stretched across the track, working on capstans fitted with revolving fans. The stoppage was gentle, and the passenger breathed freely again, looking now upon the machine with more friendly and less fearful eye, as if it were a dangerous bulldog with which amicable relations had been established and fear of injury was over.

Reward of Good Conduct.

General B—— had been financial agent to the penitentiary for a number of years, and warmly opposed General Houston's last election as governor of Texas, and after election he feared he would lose his office. He therefore presented a petition, asking that he might be retained, his "long and faithful services" being urged as a reason for granting the request. "It appears from the petition, general," said the governor, "that you have been in the penitentiary eight years." "Yes, sir." "And you say that you have performed faithfully each and every duty imposed upon you during that time?" "Yes, sir." "Then, sir," said the governor, with a twinkle in his eye, "it seems to me I ought to pardon you out."—Argonaut.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

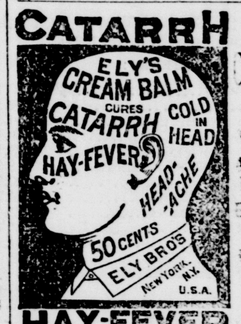

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Yewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. M, 2d. N. Y. Cavalry and of the 13th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies." —Solomon Yewell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 5, 1892.

These remedies are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. They positively contain neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

A Whimsical Chap.

Once tried to quote Bulwer (was it Bulwer?) and said, "Great aches from little toe corns grow," and altho' he didn't exactly quote he got there, got there as it were, with both feet, at least with a part of both.

"Toe be or not to be,' said Shakespeare, (or Bacon?) and he toe, may not be far off. Foot it over hill and dale, 'til you are weary and footsore, and you cannot find such bargains as we offer in building sites, Homesites, for on these and the prices of the same and terms, too, we always did "toe the mark." For some reason we are this spring getting onto the goods, the prices and the terms with both feet. And so, with Hamlet we soliloquize.: "The wonder grows", why people are not "up in arms" when the prices we quote are looked into. You can get a home, if you wish, so long as we are in the business; hard times don't count. If you are not earning so much money as you did last year, we will meet you; it don't matter.

Homesites and Homes are our fad; to help people get 'em is what we are on earth for, this time.

The main secret, we suppose, why we always get the major part of the real estate trade going, is that we own a large part of the property that we offer. Another part of the secret is, we deal every time so that our customer sends to us his or her friend when they want to deal.

Our beginnings here were not large, but so true it is that "Great oaks from little acorns grow," that the "birds of the air" have their homes,—build their nests,—in the result of our grain of mustard seed. Come over and roost with us. Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

YES, THE STATE CAMPAIGN OPENS

Gofernor Beck he had a barty;
Wo is dot barty now?

BESIDES A. P. Lovejoy the republicans who think they should be governor are William A. Upham of Marshfield, H. A. Taylor of Madison, Mayor Koch of Milwaukee, James Monahan of Darlington, E. I. Kidd of Prairie du Chien, Ira B. Bradford and Michael Griffin of Eau Claire, and Senator Baxter and ex-Lieutenant Governor Ryland of Lancaster and others.

SECRETARY of State Cunningham has sawed a large quantity of political wood while his official associates have been hiring lawyers to explain what they couldn't remember about the roster deal.

SEVERAL congressional nominations and elections are practically made. Cooper in the first, Babcock in the third and Shaw in the seventh are sure of re-nomination by the republicans.

THERE promises to be a merry circus up in Barwig's district, which has always been considered a democratic "cinch," the majority in the last election being 6,300.

THE prospects for republican success this fall are so bright that there will be the liveliest kind of a contest for every place on the ticket from governor down.

A YEAR ago nearly every one of the present state officers thought they might head the democratic state ticket in '94. How times have changed!

IF Jeffris goes into the congressional fight he will have warm support from Darlington, although Darlington's candidate, Osborn, will be in the field.

R. J. BURDGE will have J. J. Wiley of Waukesha and F. A. Copeland, of La Crosse, to contend against for lieutenant governor.

HENRY CASSON, A. J. Turner, O. H. Rosencranz and J. M. Chapple think they would look well in Secretary Cunningham's place.

PROBABLY only one democratic congressman is reasonably certain of a renomination, and he is Somers of Milwaukee,

"LITTLE JOHNNY DUGAN" is more likely to last than is "Honest Johnny Hunner" as a popular song next season.

CONGRESSMEN Brickner, Wells, Barnes and Lynch will all be confronted by at least two opponents each.

ALL but one of the democratic congressmen will have a fight on their hands to get a renomination.

The crop of lawyers who aspire to Attorney-General O'Connor's position as republican candidates is large.

MENTION of C. E. Bross, of Madison, as secretary of state finds approval in many parts of the state.

SOME objection has been made to Congressman Haugen asking for a fourth term.

REPUBLICANS generally expect to carry seven out of the ten districts this fall.

ATLEY PETERSON would like to run again for state treasurer.

REPUBLICANS have ten good candidates for governor.

THERE are few democratic candidates as yet.

EARLY birds are out after worms in earnest.

J. B. TREAT is mentioned for governor.

Where to Begin.

Mrs. Highmind—I think it's a great pity that one can't find a newspaper that isn't filled with all sorts of horrible crimes. We ought to have an organization to prevent such matter from being printed.

Philosopher—Would it not be better to have an organization to prevent such crimes from being printed?

His Mistake.

"Preacher made a big mistake Sunday, and lost a good collection."

"How?"

"Well, he appointed a bill collector to go 'round with the plate, and blamed if every man in the congregation didn't ask him to call again on the 15th."

A Wise Act.

Tokes—We have at last secured a cook who will stay with us.

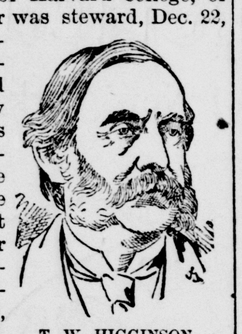

Carson—Nonsense!

Tokes — Not at all. I took her on the recommendation of the policeman on the beat.—Truth.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES.

Seventy Years of Honor.

Thomas Wentworth Higginson, the writer, reformer and patriot, was born in the shadow of Harvard college, of which his father was steward, Dec. 22, 1823. He graduated from the college in 1841 and from the divinity school six years later. He was ordained for the service of the Newburyport church, and after leaving there, owing to his abolition sentiments, accepted the pastorate of a free church in Worcester, where he remained from 1852 to 1858, when he left the ministry and devoted himself to literature. He was a personal friend of John Brown, and after he went to the front in 1862 was made colonel of the first regiment of freed slaves mustered into the Federal service.

T. W. HIGGINSON.

AS JERE MURPHY VIEWS IT

It begins to look as though Senator Vilas may have to come home to defend the unconstutionality of the roster law.

The specific levy of $1.90 per volume on soldiers' rosters was another tax which wouldn't have been paid by the consumer.

Likely enough it will ultimately appear that it was the Russian grip instead of the Masonic which Mary Ellen Lease got.

It should be a never failing source of pride to the Wisconsin democracy to know that Senator Vilas is not the Pee Wee of the Cuckoo family.

We not only believe Chairman Wall's statement that he has several irons in the fire, but we are disposed to suspect that all of them are red-hot.

Notwithstanding that the support of the unemployed in this state continues to be a heavy burden on generous charity, there are still no applicants for places upon the democratic state ticket next fall.

Of course if the counsel for the defense is going to ask the jury to be merciful in this action for $15,000 on account of the wives and children of the defendants that puts an altogether different question before the public.

Judge Siebecker's instruction to the jury that they should read nothing in the papers about the roster trial, evidently removed a great responsibility from the Milwaukee Journal, of which it may almost be said that it has withdrawn from all interest in the case.

General Doe is in some respects all that his attorneys had described him, and if he ever gets out of this present embarrassment with his military genius, he may yet become a commanding figure in affairs of state. But he will never command as high a figure as $1.90 a volume for printing rosters again in Wisconsin.—Madison Journal.

A Perfect Cure

Mr. Joel H. Austin is a man very highly esteemed by all who know him. He is now pension attorney at Goshen, Ind., and was for 20 years a Baptist missionary minister. He says: "I suffered years with swelling of my limbs, at times very painful, especially at night. I could not sleep. I have taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and for weeks there has not been any swelling of my feet and limbs. I have also suffered for years with catarrh in the head, which was working down into my lungs. Since trying Hood's Sarsaparilla the pain in my head has stopped and I am positive of a perfect cure." Colonel Throckmorton of Kentucky.

Colonel Throckmorton, a distinguished Kentuckian, was once on a wooden sailing vessel on the high seas, when a frightful storm burst and the vessel became water-logged. The passengers were crying and appealing to heaven for aid. Colonel Throckmorton edged over to the side of the captain and said: "Tell me, is there really any danger?" You see what the rest of the passengers are doing," replied the captain; "they are making their peace with God. If you ever do any praying, colonel, you might do so with perfect propriety at this juncture. The vessel can't live five minutes." The colonel straightened himself, lifted his hat, looked up to the scowling sky with a reverent mien, and exclaimed: "Almighty God, if you ever intend to do Colonel Throckmorton of Kentucky, a favor, now is your time to do it!"

Disparaging His Own Efforts.

A man who died recently in Berlin, N. Y., at the age of 73, left a record which he began when he was 18 years old and continued for fifty-two years. The book filled with methodical entries, shows that in these fifty-two years the man had smoked 628,715 cigars, of which he had received 43,628 as presents, while for the remaining 585,086 he had paid about $10,433. In the fifty-two years, according to his bookkeeper, he had drank 28,768 glasses of beer and 36,081 glasses of spirits, for which he spent $5,350. The diary closes with these words: "I have tried all things; I have seen many: I have accomplished nothing."

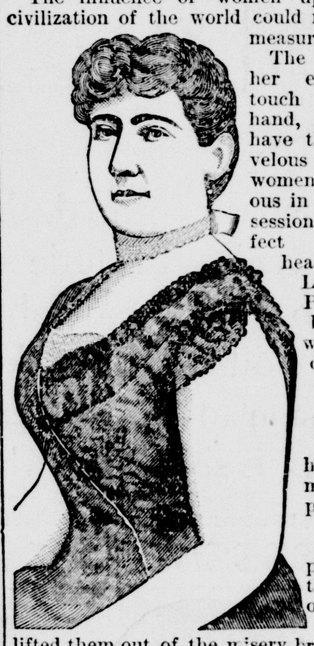

A WOMAN'S POWER.

IT IS THE GREATEST ON EARTH.

It Establishes Thrones and Destroys Nations.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

The influence of women upon the civilization of the world could never be measured.

The flash of her eye, the touch of her hand, and we have the marvelous power of women, glorious in the possession of perfect physical health. Lydia E. Pinkham, by her wonderful discovery of the Vegetable Compound has done much to place this great health power in the hands of women. She has lifted them out of the misery brought by displacement of the womb, and all the evils that follow diseased uterus.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restores natural cheerfulness, destroys despondency, cures leucorrhœa, backache, strengthens the muscles, restores the womb to its normal condition, regulates menstruation, removes inflammation, ulceration, and tumors of the womb, etc.

Here are two women who speak from experience, and for the benefit of others.

Miss Helen Smith, 43 22d Place, Chicago, Ill., says:—"I was troubled with irregularity and leucorrhœa. I followed Mrs. Pinkham's advice, took her Vegetable Compound, and used her Sanative Wash. I now feel like a new woman, and am perfectly healthy."

Mrs. E. Fox, Woodstown, N. J., writes:—"I had been sick 10 years with womb trouble and leucorrhœa. Doctors could not help me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did. Employment of any kind does not trouble me now, and I can stand nearly all day and not feel tired. I cannot thank you enough. I recommend the Compound to every woman who has any weakness."

HAMILTON TELLS OF HIS EXPLOITS

HE DENIES ALL CHARGES MADE HERE.

He Claims That He is the Victim of Unscrupulous Enemies Who Buy Safety Bicycles and Fail to Pay—Doesn't Ask Anybody to Visit Janesville.

There isn't anything slow about John W. Hamilton.

Most men would be discouraged if they had a record like Hamilton made in Janesville and it kept following them around.

Not so with John W.

He has seen copies of Janesville papers relating his exploits, and publishes this answer in the Middletown, (Pa) Daily Journal:

"To the Stockholders of the Champion Manufacturing Co: There have been papers sent to a number of people in this town which contain articles which are damaging to my reputation. They have been sent here by irresponsible persons. I have letters in my possession from persons in good standing which refute all false reports. They are from bankers and business men from Springfield, Ohio, and Janesville, Wis. Their business rating can be found in Bradstreet's Commercial agency and it will be found that they are responsible men. In regard to the Janesville land speculation I will say this: I have a letter in my possession from a banker in Janesville, Wis., who said he was led to believe that a man from Springfield, O., was the man who bought the land and not me.

C. H. Hoffer has a letter from S. F. McGrew, who is cashier of the Mad River National Bank, of Springfield, Ohio, which has a capital stock of $300,000 and a surplus stock of $100,000. I did not know that Mr. Hoffer was writing to Mr. McGrew. Ths letter states that Mr. McGrew was a stockholder in the Champion Shelf Mfg. Co, of Springfield, Ohio, of which I was treasurer and manager, and that my dealings with him had always been straight and satisfactory, and that if I were given half a chance, I would make any business.

"Benjamin Peters, a man whom you all know as our leading merchant and as president of the Farmers' Bank for years, told me that he wrote to a man whom he knew and whose word is unquestioned and he spoke in the highest terms of me.

"I now have a letter from a former stockholder in Springfield, Ohio, who says if he had $10,000 loose money, at present, that he would put it in a factory, jointly with me and have me manage it. This man lost more money in the land company than all the others put together, with the exception of one man. He also writes me another letter and says for me "to do as I have always done and that malice and spite will go down every time before energy, honesty and merit." "Now in regard to E. M. Hardy, the editor of this paper, which has been sent to so many of our citizens, I will give you this instance to show you how reliable he is: "C. J. Myers, our secretary, sold him a safety bicycle in September, 1892, for a four months' note for $100. Mr. Myers sent the note to a lawyer for collection over five months ago, but the note is not paid yet.

"That is the class of persons who are writing these damaging letters. Among all these letters none can be found which were written by stockholders, nor can their names be found in the Commercial Agencies.

"When Janesville sent a man to Springfield, Ohio, to investigate my ability and moral standing, whom did they send? Did they send E. M. Hardy or one of the men who wrote these articles? No, the Business Men's Association of Janesville, sent the Hon. L, B. Carle, president of the First National bank of that place. He went to Springfield and called upon such men as O. T. Martin, a leading attorney of that city; C. A. Phelps, cashier of the First National bank of Springfield, and S. F. McGrew, cashier of the Mad River National Bank. This is the class of men upon whom he called. And what report did he get? I cannot give you the words here, but they gave me a first class recommendation or Mr. Carle would not have advised his town to give my company $15,000 for removing there. Mr. Carle is a man who stands above reproach in Janesville. I think the above is sufficient to show you that I am not as these letters and articles represent me to be, but I am what I represent myself to be. JOHN W. HAMILTON.

With all Mr. Hamilton's frankness it will be noted that he doesn't ask anybody to visit Janesville to ascertain his reputation for truth and uprightness.

Cheap Prices This Week.

It is now an acknowledged fact that a really good theatrical performance can be given at cheap prices, 10, 20, and 30 cents and this season, especially, the companies playing at those prices seem to be doing the best business. The Rice Wolford & Sheridan Co. who begin a three night engagement Thursday have ventured even farther than any other popular price organization and present heavy scenic melo-drama. "The Smugglers" with eleven full sets of scenery is to be their opening bill Thursday, followed by the "Train Wreckers" Friday and Underground Saturday night. For the last two days every scene used is carried by the company.

MORMONS AT WORK IN THIS CITY.

REGULAR PREACHING SERVICES BEGAN YESTERDAY.

Special Meeting For Young Men at the Presbyterian Church—Five Baptized By Rev. Dr. Hodge—Union Y. M. C. A. Meeting to Be Held Next Sunday Night.

Efforts are being made to establish a church of Latter Day Saints or Mormons in this city. There was a meeting in the municipal court Sunday morning and regular preaching services are to be held hereafter. The sermon yesterday was a protest against the variety of ways in which God's truths are interpreted. The Mormon church, it was urged, held to all the biblical requirements—faith, repentance, baptism, laying on of hands, calling of ministers by the direct voice of God, divine judgment, and life everlasting. The minister who is called by God, it was insisted, would be fitted with wisdom from above. It is not essettial that he have education, although it is well if he has it.

At the Baptist church a large number attended the Sunday evening service, at the close of which seven members were received into the church by baptism. Next Sunday morning Dr. Hodge will speak especially to young men. In the evening the church will unite with other churches for the second anniversary meeting of the Janesville Y. M. C. A.

The following are the officers elecfor the ensuing six months at the Baptist Y. P. S. C. E. business meeting last week:

President—Miss Lizzie Morris.
Vice president—David Tennent.
Secretary—L. E. Beers.
Treasurer—C. S. Cleland.

Rev. Mrs. Gibb delivered an able and interesting sermon in All Souls church Sunday morning, which was listened to by an unusually large congregation. The subject of her discourse was "Immortality, conditional."

Service Especially For Young Men.

The Sunday evening service at the Presbyterian church was especially for young men. Rev. Mr. Pence preached a very forcible sermon, presenting the possibilities of young men in a very reasonable manner.

There were special morning services at the First M. E. church yesterday commencing at 9:00 a. m. with love feast followed by reception of twelve new members on probation. One joined by letter and two were received in full followship. The ordinance of baptism was admiuistered to five adult members. The morning sermon was followed by the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational church will be held in the church parlors tonight at 7:30.

Wednesday evening of this week there will be a New England supper in the Congregational church parlors at 6:00 p. m.

TIED FOUR HOURS IN A CHAIR.

"Paddy" Mulcairns Was Held By the Family In a Novel Way.

For four hours Sunday night "Paddy" Mulcairns sat in a chair at the home of his parents and swore that if he ever got up he would "lick 'em." He did not have a paralytic stroke but the family had wrapped the clothes line about his manly frame and tied it behind the chair so that he couldn't reach the knot. Then they caused him to be cast into prison and this morning Judge Phelps "rubbed it in" by declaring that he should stay there for five days.

Paddy went home drunk Saturday night. The whisky he had swallowed of the Sullivan order and made him think he was John L. The family awaited him in fear and trembling for they knew he had enough of the John L. in him so that when he started out to impersonate that famous Bostonian he gave a good imitation.

No sooner had he entered the house than he "put up his dukes" and called "time." Nobody accepted his challenge and so after the manner of all pugilists he began telling what he would do if they did. The atmosphere began to get thick and sulphurous and as "Paddy" danced and swung his arms, one of the members of the family stepped out into the darkness. When he returned the family clothes line was clutched nervously in a trembling hand. The family formed a "wedge" after the fashion of football players and made for Paddy. The onslaught threw him from his feet and before time was called for the second round they had him securely tied to a chair. He fumed and tore and fought and swore but it was of no use.

It was 3 o'clock in the morning when they sent a messenger to the jail to wake Sheriff Bear. The sheriff allowed that it was out of his jurisdiction so Officer Kruse went down about 6 o'clock and landed "Paddy" in jail. "Paddy" was somewhat stiffened up by his enforced rest of four hours but he didn't try any John L. business on the big officer.

STOPPED BY A BROKEN DYNAMO.

Street Cars Tied Up Sunday Afternoon by Disabled Machinery.

Street cars were tied up at different places along the track Sunday afternoon from half past 1 o'clock until evening, owing to an accident at the power house disabling one of the dynamos. Superintendent Proudfoot found it necessary to take down the dynamo and put in a new "spool," which required several hours.

The bride has many friends in Janesville, she formerly living here. Her father was formerly a Janesville carpenter. Conductor York runs the Watertown passenger.

Winslow Herbert Gilkey.

The angel of death entered the happy home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Gilkey at 2 o'clock Sunday morning and bore their four-monthr' old baby boy, Winslow Herbert, to the home above. Congestion of the lungs caused the little one's death and did its dread work in three days. Mr. and Mrs. Gilkey have the sincere sympathy of all in the hour of their sadness and sorrow. The funeral will be held from the residence 256 South Main street, at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Plans for St. Patrick's Day.

Can't Hunt Ducks In The City.

Chief Acheson has had several complaints about people who shoot ducks inside the city limits. One careless gunner sent a load of "No. 6 chilled" through a window and peppered the occupants of the house not long ago. Prosecution will follow if hunting inside the limits is not stopped.

A Correction.

The World Is Slowly Washing Away.

An interesting calculation has recently been made public through one of the many publications of the French academy of sciences. It is to the effect that, taking into consideration the wear and tear on the solid land by ocean washing, river erosion, and weather, to say nothing of probable volcanic action, the world will, by the end of the year 4,500,000 be completely washed away, and the ocean will roll over the present foundations of our great continents.

Obeying Orders.

Travers—Did you find a $5 bill in the pocket of that overcoat you repaired for me?

"Then why the mischief didn't you send it to me?

"You told me you didn't want to see the bill for six months."—New York Herald.

TRAINS WERE HELD BY A BIG WASHOUT.

LAST NIGHT'S FLOOD SWEPT BANKS AWAY.

St. Paul Road Passenger From the West Did Not Get Here Until Four O'clock and Extra Runs Had to Be Made to Make the Necessary Connections.

Last night's rain was the disturbing influence in the railroad business today. Out near Calamine a big section of St. Paul track washed out and the trains from that vicinity did not get in until 4 o'clock. A special in charge of Conductor Peter F. Rock came over from Monroe and Conductor George Corson made an extra trip to Milton to connect with the Madison and Milwaukee line. The Calamine washout was at the foot of a bluff where the road for some distance had to be built up. Every time they get a severe storm the same thing happens despite the efforts to build the bank strong enough to withstand it.

A big train bowled out of the C. & N. W. yards this morning. There were 107 cars in this string and Conductor Smith and Engineer Montgomery were in charge. The train had to be pulled north to get them onto the Afton track and it reached from Pleasant street some distance beyond the Ferris Ice Company's houses. They had just got nicely started when a link parted and the train broke in two. The crew went on with seventy eight cars.

Conductor John Quirk is running Conductor James York's train while the latter is on his wedding vacation.

A North Carolina justice of the peace was recently called upon to marry a couple. The magistrate sometimes indulges in poetry, and knowing how little property the bride and groom possessed performed the ceremony in the following words:

Didn't Blame Them.

The new baby had proved itself the possessor of extraordinary powers, and had exercised them much to Johnny's annoyance. One day he said to his mother:

"Ma, little brother came from Heaven, didn't he?"

"Yes, dear."

Johnny was silent for some time, and then he went on:

"Say, ma."

"What is it, Johnny?"

"I don't blame the angels for bouncing him, do you?"—Alex E. Sweet, in Texas Siftings.

Found the Steak Tough.

The guest at the hotel was persevering and patient, but that didn't make the steak any tenderer, and do what he could he could not dissect it.

"Waiter," he said, at last, "will you be kind enough to inform me what this is?"

"It's a steak, of course," responded the waiter, with a John Sullivan poke of his chin at the guest.

"Thanks, I am sure. Will you please carry it out to the back yard and drive it in the ground to hitch the horse to?"—Washington Star.

Very Queer

re the sensations experienced by the nervous and dyspeptic. Unaccountable palpitation, buzzing in the ears, flushing of one side of the face, odd taste and tingling in the mouth, constant restlessness, stinging in the gullet and sinking in the stomach, acute sensitiveness to slight sounds that magnifies them tenfold, low spirits—these are only a few of the charming experiences of the individual who suffers from combined nervousness and indigestion—a team that usually travel together. Their gay and festive career is, however, brought to a full stop by that greatest of stomachics, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which also overcomes their allies—constipation and biliousness. This popular remedy fortifies those who use it against malaria, chronic rheumatism and kidney complaint, restores nervous quietude and promotes appetite, vigor and sleep.

I can safely say that I never took such medicine as that to cleanse the stomach and kidneys. I was suffering for years with biliousness, indigestion and loss of appetite and sleep. TALMAGE'S TOPIC THE NAME OF JESUS.

IT CHEERS THE DOWNTRODDEN OF THIS CENTURY.

He Was the Great Liberator of the Human Race in Body as Well as in Soul—Talmage on Christ, the Conqueror of the World.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., March 4, 1894.—From the startling figure of the text chosen by Rev. Dr. Talmage in his sermon in the Brooklyn Tabernacle to-day, the preacher brought out the radical truths of the Christian religion. It was Sacramental day in the Tabernacle. The subject of the sermon was "Christ the Conqueror," the text being Isa. 63 : 1: "Who is this that cometh from Edom, with dyed garments from Bozrah? this that is glorious in his apparel, traveling in the greatness of his strength?"

Edom and Bozrah, having been the scene of fierce battle, when those words are used here or in any other part of the Bible, they are figures of speech setting forth scenes of severe conflict. As now we often use the word Waterloo to describe a decisive contest of any kind, so the words Bozrah and Edom in this text are figures of speech descriptive of a scene of great slaughter. Whatever else the prophet may have meant to describe, he most certainly meant to depict the Lord Jesus Christ, saying, "Who is this that cometh from Edom, with dyed garments from Bozrah, traveling in the greatness of his strength?"

When a general is about to go out to the wars, a flag and a sword are publicly presented to him and the maidens bring flowers, and the young men load the cannon, and the train starts amid a huzza that drowns the thunder of the wheels and the shriek of the whistle. But all this will give no idea of the excitement that there must have been in heaven when Christ started out on the campaign of the world's conquest. If they could have foreseen the siege that would be laid to him, and the maltreatment he would suffer, and the burdens he would have to carry, and the battles he would have to fight, I think there would have been a million volunteers in heaven who would have insisted on coming along with him; but no, they only accompanied him to the gate, their last shout heard clear down to the earth, the space between the two worlds bridged with a great hosanna. You know there is a wide difference between a man's going off to battle and coming back again. When he goes off it is with epaulets untangled, with banner unspecked, with horses sleek and shining from the groom. All that there is of struggle and pain is to come yet. So it was with Christ. He had not yet fought a battle. He was starting out, and though this world did not give him a warm-hearted greeting, there was a gentle mother who folded him in her arms; and a babe finds no difference between a stable and a palace, between courtiers and camel-drivers. As Jesus stepped on the stage of this world, it was amid angelic shouts in the galleries and amid the kindest maternal ministrations. But soon hostile forces began to gather. They deployed from the Sanhedrim. They were detailed from the standing army. They came out from the Cesarean castles. The vagabonds in the street joined the gentlemen of the mansion. Spirits rode up from hell, and in long array there came a force together that threatened to put to rout this newly-arrived one from heaven. Jesus now seeing the battle gathering, lifted his own standard; but who gathered about it? How feeble the recruits! A few shoremen, a blind beggar, a woman with an alabaster box, another woman with two mites, and a group of friendless, moneyless and positionless people came to his standard. What chance was there for him? Nazareth against him. Bethlehem against him. Capernaum against him. Jerusalem against him. Galilee against him. The courts against him. The army against him. The throne against him. The world against him. All hell against him. No wonder they asked him to surrender. But he could not surrender, he could not apologize, he could not take any back steps. He had come to strike for the deliverance of an enslaved race, and he must do the work. Then they sent out their pickets to watch him. They saw in what house he went, and when he came out. They watched what he ate, and who with; what he drank, and how much. They did not dare to make their final assault, for they knew not but that behind him there might be a reinforcement that was not seen, But at last the battle came. It was to be more fierce than Bozrah, more bloody than Gettysburg, involving more than Austerlitz, more combatants employed than at Chalons, a ghastlier conflict than all the battles of the earth put together, though Edmund Burke's estimate of thirty-five thousand millions of the slain be accurate. The day was Friday. The hour was between 12 and 3 o'clock. The field was a slight hillock northwest of Jerusalem. The forces engaged were earth and hell, joined as allies on one side, and heaven, represented by a solitary inhabitant, on the other.

The hour came. Oh, what a time it was! I think that that day the universe looked on. The spirits that could be spared from the heavenly temple, and could get conveyance of wing or chariot, came down from above, and spirits getting furlough from beneath came up; and they listened, and they looked, and they watched. Oh, what an uneven battle! Two worlds armed on one side; an unarmed man on the other. The regiment of the Roman army at that time stationed at Jerusalem began the attack. They knew how to fight, for they belonged to the most thoroughly drilled army of all the world. With spears glittering in the sun, they charged up the hill. The horses prance and rear amid the excitement of the populace—the heels of the riders plunged in the flanks, urging them on. The weapons begin to tell on Christ. See how faint he looks! There the blood starts, and there, and there, and there. If he is to have reinforcements, let him call them up now No; he must do this work alone—alone. He is dying. Feel for yourself of the wrist; the pulse is feebler. Feel under the arm; the warmth is less. He is dying. Ay, they pronounce him dead. And just at that moment that they pronounced him dead he rallied, and from his wounds he unsheathed a weapon which staggered the Roman legions down the hill, and hurled the Satanic battalions into the pit. It was a weapon of love—infinite love, all-conquering love. Mightier than javelin or spear, it triumphed over all. Put back, ye armies of earth and hell! The tide of battle turns. Jesus hath overcome. Let the people stand apart and make a line, that he may pass down from Calvary to Jerusalem, and thence on and out all around the world. The battle is fought. The victory is achieved! The triumphal march is begun. Hark to the hoofs of the warrior's steed, and the tramping of a great multitude! for he has many friends now. The hero of earth and heaven advances. Cheer! cheer! "Who is this that cometh from Edom, with dyed garments from Bozrah, traveling in the greatness of his strength?"

We behold here a new revelation of a blessed and startling fact. People talk of Christ as though he were going to do something grand for us after a while. He has done it. People talk as though, ten or twenty years from now, in the closing hours of our life, or in some terrible pass of life, Jesus will help us. He has done the work already. He did it eighteen hundred and sixty-one years ago. You might as well talk of Washington as though he were going to achieve our national independence in 1950, as to speak of Christ as though he were going to achieve our salvation in the future. He did it in the year of our Lord 33, eighteen hundred and sixty-one years ago, on the field of Bozrah, the Captain of our salvation fighting unto death for your and my emancipation. All we have to do is to accept that fact in our heart of hearts, and we are free for this world, and we are free for the world to come. But, lest we might not accept, Christ comes through here to-day, "traveling in the greatness of his strength," not to tell you that he is going to fight for you some battle in the future, but to tell you that the battle is already fought, and the victory already won.

You have noticed that, when soldiers come home from the wars, they carry on their flags the names of the battlefields where they were distinguished. The Englishman coming back has on his banner Inkermann and Balaklava; the Frenchman, Jena and Eylau; the German, Versailles and Sedan. And Christ has on the banner he carries as conqueror the names of ten thousand battlefields he won for you and for me! He rides past all our homes of bereavement—by the door-bell swathed in sorrow, by the wardrobe black with woe, by the dismantled fortress of our strength. Come out and greet him, O ye people! See the names of all the battle-passes on his flag. Ye who are poor, read on this ensign the story of Christ's hard crusts and pillowless head. Ye who are persecuted, read here of the ruffians who chased him from his first breath to his last. Mighty to soothe your troubles, mighty to balk your calamities, mighty to tread down your foes, "traveling in the greatness of his strength." Though his horse be brown with the dust of the march, and the fetlocks be wet with the carnage, and the bit be red with the blood of your spiritual foes, he comes up now, not exhausted from the battle, but fresh as when he went into it—coming up from Bozrah, "traveling in the greatness of his strength."

You know that when Augustus and Constantine and Trajan and Titus came back from the wars, what a time there was. You know they came on horseback or in chariots, and there were trophies before and there were captives behind, and there were people shouting on all sides, and there were garlands flung from the window, and over the highway a triumphal arch was sprung. The solid masonry to-day at Beneventum, Rimini and Rome still tell their admiration for those heroes. And shall we let our Conqueror go without lifting any acclaim? Have we not flowers red enough to depict the carnage, white enough to celebrate the victory, fragrant enough to breathe the joy? Those men of whom I just spoke dragged their victims at the chariot wheels; but Christ our Lord takes those who once were captives and invites them into his chariot to ride, while he puts around them the arm of his strength, saying: "I have loved thee with an everlasting love, and the waters shall not drown it, and the fires shall not burn it, and eternity shall not exhaust it."

If this be true, I can not see how any man can carry his sorrows a great while. If this conqueror from Bozrah is going to beat back all your griefs, why not trust him? Oh! do you not feel under this gospel your griefs falling back, and your tears drying up, as you hear the tramp of a thousand illustrious promises led on by the conqueror of Bozrah, "traveling, traveling, in the greatness of his strength?"

On that Friday, which the Episcopal church rightly celebrates, calling it "Good Friday," your soul and mine were contended for. On that day Jesus proved himself mightier than earth and hell; and when the lances struck him, he gathered them up into a sheaf, as a reaper gathers the grain, and he stacked them. Mounting the horse of the Apocalypse, he rode down through the ages, "traveling in the greatness of his strength." On that day your sin and mine perished, if we will only believe it.

There may be some one here who may say, "I don't like the color of this conqueror's garments. You tell me that his garments were not only spattered with the blood of conflict, but also that they were soaked, that they were saturated, that they were dyed in it." I admit it. You say you do not like that. Then I quote to you two passages of scripture: "Without the shedding of blood there is no remission." "In the blood is the atonement." But it was not your blood. It was his own. Not only enough to redden his garments and to redden his horse, but enough to wash away the sins of the world. O the blood on his brow, the blood on his hands, the blood on his feet, the blood on his side! It seems as if an artery must have been cut.

There is a fountain filled with blood
Drawn from Emmanuel's veins,
And sinners plunged beneath that flood
Lose all their guilty stains.

At 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon go among the places of business or toil, It will be no difficult thing for you to find men who, by their looks, show you that they are overworked. They are prematurely old. They are hastening rapidly toward their decease. They have gone through crises in business that shattered their nervous system, and pulled on the brain. They have a shortness of breath, and a pain in the back of the head, and at night an insomnia that alarms them. Why are they drudging at business early and late? For fun? No; it would be difficult to extract any amusement out of that exhaustion. Because they are avaricious? In many cases no. Because their own personal expenses are lavish? No; a few hundred dollars would meet all their wants. The simple fact is, the man is enduring all that fatigue and exasperation, and wear and tear, to keep his home prosperous. There is an invisible line reaching from that store, from that bank, from that shop, from that scaffolding, to a quiet scene a few blocks, a few miles away, and there is the secret of that business endurance. He is simply the champion of a homestead, for which he wins bread, and wardrobe, and education, and prosperity, and in such battle ten thousand men fall. Of ten business men whom I bury, nine die of overwork for others. Some sudden disease finds them with no power of resistance, and they are gone. Life for life. Blood for blood. Substitution!

At 1 o'clock to-morrow morning, the hour when slumber is most uninterrupted and most profound, walk amid the dwelling-houses of the city. Here and there you will find a dim light, because it is the household custom to keep a subdued light burning; but most of the houses from base to top are as dark as though uninhabited. A merciful God has sent forth the archangel of sleep, and he puts his wings over the city. But yonder is a clear light burning and outside on the window casement a glass or pitcher containing food for a sick child. the food is set in the fresh air. This is the sixth night that mother has sat up with that sufferer. She has to the last point obeyed the physician's prescription, not giving a drop too much or too little, or a moment too soon or too late. She is very anxious, for she has buried three children with the same disease, and she prays and weeps, each prayer and sob ending with a kiss of the pale cheek. By dint of kindness she gets the little one through the ordeal. After it is all over, the mother is taken down. Brain or nervous fever sets in, and one day she leaves the convalescent child with a mother's blessing, and goes up to join the three in the kingdom of heaven. Life for life. Substitution! The fact is that there are an uncounted number of mothers who, after they have navigated a large family of children through all the diseases of infancy, and got them fairly started up the flowering slope of boyhood and girlhood, have only strength enough left to die. They fade away. Some call it consumption; some call it nervous prostration, some call it intermittent or malarial disposition; but I call it martyrdom of the domestic circle. Life for life. Blood for blood. Substitution!

Or perhaps the mother lingers long enough to see a son get on the wrong road, and his former kindness becomes rough reply when she expresses anxiety about him. But she goes right on, looking carefully after his apparel, rememberin, his every birthday with some memento, and when he is brought home worn out with dissipation, nurses him till he gets well and starts him again, and hopes, and expects, and prays, and counsels, and suffers, until her strength gives out and she fails. She is going, and attendants, bending over her pillow, ask her if she has any message to leave, and she makes great effort to say something, but out of three or four minutes of indistinct utterance they can catch but three words, "My poor boy!" The simple fact is she died for him. Life for life. Substitution!

About thirty-three years ago there went forth from our homes hundreds of thousands of men to do battle for their country. All the poetry of war soon vanished and left them nothing but the terrible prose. They waded knee-deep in mud. They slept in snow banks. They marched till their cut feet tracked the earth. They were swindled out of their honest rations, and lived on meat not fit for a dog. They had jaws all fractured, and eyes extinguished, and limbs shot away. Thousands of them cried for water as they lay dying on the field the night after the battle, and got it not. They were homesick, and received no message from their loved ones. They died in barns, in bushes, in ditches, the buzzards of the summer heat the only attendants on their obsequies. No one but the infinite God who knows every thing, knows the ten thousandta part of the length, and breadth, and depth, and height of anguish of the northern and southern battlefields. Why did these fathers leave their children and go to the front, and why did these young men, postponing the marriage day, start out into the probabilities of never coming back? For the country they died. Life for life. Blood for blood. Substitution!

But we need not go so far. What is that monument in Greenwood? It is to the doctors who fell in the southern epidemics. Why go! Were there not enough sick to be attended in these northern latitudes? Oh, yes; but the doctor puts a few medical books in his valise, and some vials of medicine, and leaves his patients here in the hands of other physicians, and takes the rail train. Before he gets to the infected regions he passes crowded rail trains, regular and extra, taking the flying and affrighted populations. He arrives in a city over which a great horror is brooding. He goes from couch to couch, feeling of pulse and studying symptoms, and prescribing day after day, night after night, until a fellow physician says: "Doctor, you had better go home and rest; you look miserable." But he can not rest while so many are suffering. On and on, until some morning finds him in a delirium, in which he talks of home, and then rises and says he must go and look after those patients. He is told to lie down: but he fights his attendants until he falls back, and is weaker and weaker, and dies for people with whom he had no kinship, and far away from his own family, and is hastily put away in a stranger's tomb, and only the fifth part of a newspaper line tells us of his sacrifice—his name just mentioned among five. Yet he has touched the furthest height of sublimity in tha three weeks of humanitarian service. He goes straight as an arrow to the bosom of him who said: "I was sick and ye visited me." Life for life. Blood for blood. Substitution!

Some of our modern theologians who want to give God lessons about the best way to save the world, tell us they do not want any blood in their redemption. They want to take this horse by the bit, and hurl him back on his haunches, and tell this rider from Bozrah to go around some other way. Look out, lest ye fall under the flying hoofs of this horse; lest ye go down under the sword of this conqueror from Bozrah! What meant the blood of the pigeons in the old dispensation? the blood of the bullock? the blood of the heifer? the blood of the lamb? It meant to prophesy the cleansing blood, the pardoning blood, the healing blood of this conqueror who comes up from Bozrah, "traveling in the greatness of his strength." I catch a handful of the red torrent that rushes out from the heart of the Lord, and I throw it over this audience, hoping that one drop of its cleansing power may come upon your soul. O Jesus! in that crimson tide wash our souls! We accept thy sacrifice! Conqueror of Bozrah, have mercy upon us! We throw our garments in the way! We fall into line! Ride on, Jesus, ride on! "Traveling, traveling in the greatness of thy strength."

But after awhile, the returning conqueror will reach the gate, and all the armies of the saved will be with him. I hope you will be there, and I will be there. As we go through the gate and around about the throne for the review, "a great multitude that no man can number"—all heaven can tell without asking, right away, which one is Jesus, not only because of the brightness of his face, but because, while all the other inhabitants in glory are robed in white—saints in white, cherubim in white, seraphim in white—his robes shall be scarlet, even the dyed garments of Bozrah. I catch a glimpse of that triumphant joy, but the gate opens and shuts so quickly, I can hear only half a sentence, and it is this, "Unto him who hath washed us in his blood!"
